

TALI

Tali is the Indonesian word for rope – a name that beautifully conveys the essence of this sophisticated wallpaper collection. Each design in the collection is inspired by the rich textures of different types of rope, carefully selected from Indonesia. The hand-crafted patterns, which draw on artisanal craftsmanship, have been meticulously transposed into a collection of elegant vinyl wall decorations.

Sarana

Sarana imparts a sense of playful lightness and elegance. The airy pattern perfectly complements the organic texture of the rope from which it is made. The subtle variation in rope thicknesses adds a dynamic and lively element, bequeathing unique depth and character.

Sarana is available in 12 colourways.

Tamba

The artisanal compositions of fine rope are carefully laid out by hand and coated with a delicate, semi-transparent plaster. They are then faithfully reproduced in vinyl. The name Tamba was inspired by the Indonesian word Tambalan, meaning 'plaster'.

Tamba is available in 12 colourways.

Strelitzia

Strelitzia takes its name from the enchanting flower that is also commonly known as bird of paradise. For this design, the flower was immortalised in meticulous handwork, using fine ropes to capture its graceful shape. This artisanal creation served as inspiration for a stunning vinyl wallpaper pattern that adds a hint of exotic luxury to any interior.

Strelitzia is available in 12 colourways.

Prices available on request.